WORLD WE LIVE IN

Ever since the world heard of the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, more than four years ago — and particularly during the last three years of the cold war with Russia — Americans have been wondering what the effects of such bombing would be on New York or Chicago or Washington.

Reports on the damage done in Japan have gone into exhaustive detail. There have been many published views by variously qualified persons on what might happen here.

But up to this month there had been no appraisal of possible damage and possible precautionary measures made public by the leading authority of all — the Atomic Energy Commission.

In a copyrighted story the Washington Post examines the "first official governmental report ever made on the effects of a bomb on an American city." The city is Washington. The effects on the city as now functioning would be terrific.

Last month a naval ordnance officer told the House Armed Forces Committee that a man could stand in ordinary clothes, a mile and a quarter away from an atomic blast, and not be seriously hurt. Senator McMahon of the committee said that sort of talk was "silly." We can judge how silly are such remarks when we look at the scene as the report pictures it.

Within a circle of approximately three miles diameter buildings would be crushed or rendered unusable. "In an instant" the telephone, electric, water supply and transportation systems would cease to exist in this area. Besides blast and wind damage, fires that could not be fought would break out all over the place.

In the Japanese cities, "every-one within one-half mile not protected by earth, steel or concrete died, and the incidence of radiation injury was very high up to one and one-fourth miles" from the zero point.

Dispersal of government departments, the AEC says, is the only means of keeping the capital functioning. They might be strung around the outskirts two miles apart. But the problem of evacuating the bulk of the population must be met by setting up relief facilities "as far away as Baltimore, Philadelphia and Richmond."

So we must prepare for the unthinkable. That is the task our state and city authorities will have to face. We hope the bombs will never come. Yet we must try to be ready for them. That is the world we live in now.

Russia says America's atom bombs in Japan were not needed. Russia was about to win the war in the Pacific, presumably.

Members of a congressional group which was snubbed in Sweden say that country will not get any more American taxpayer dollars. If this group really wants to help the American taxpayer, why doesn't it get snubbed in London?

Oil Paintings Displayed By Odds and Ends Club

LAHASKA, Dec. 3—Oil paintings were featured by a small group of the Odds and Ends Club, at their meeting at the home of one of the club's artists, Mrs. Noble F. Beacham, here.

Mrs. Isabel Rodgers showed a portrait in oils of her younger son in uniform, after which the hostess exhibited "Vermont," an oil that was recently shown in a Doylestown store during Art Week, and another entitled "Hair-do," which was shown in New Hope at the same time.

Two outstanding canvases, "Cosmos" and "Fishing Boats, Gloucester Harbor," were shown by Mrs. G. W. Sotter of Hollicong, and Mrs. George M. Whitenack, of Lower State road, exhibited two small oil studies, "Dauber's Den" and "From My Window," both in Autumnal coloring. "The Old Farm-house" and "Zinnias" were displayed by Mrs. Pemberton Ginther, of Lahaska.

Giving an account of the opera that was recently presented in New Hope, Mrs. E. M. Paxson, of Solebury, gave a recital of the two operas given as a new experiment by the Curtis Institute of Music. The first, she said, had been an old opera by Mozart and the second a charming modern one.

Following this Mrs. Beacham introduced two verses, "When I Return" and "Today." Another verse, "Autumn 1949," a descriptive of the delicate beauty of the late season, was presented by Mrs. Ginther.

Tea was served.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Rev. Elwood Thornton Dyson
Acting Minister
Newportville Presbyterian Church

O Wise and Loving Heavenly Father, speak to the peoples of the nations once again through Thy prophets and priests with spiritual power. Raise up Christians who will live the Gospel and proclaim it with authority. Push back the confining walls of men's minds which harbor prejudice and fear, hatred and greed, selfishness and narrow complacency. Let the dawn of a new and glorious day for Thy Kingdom appear upon the horizons of men's hopes. Hear us, we beseech Thee, O God, using us in Thy service, and bringing nearer the time when the kingdoms of this world may become the Kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ. Amen.

great Pennsylvanian and his home.

Mrs. Mary Watson, teacher, supervised the field trip.

Pupils in the fifth and sixth grades of Trevose School enjoyed a visit to the commercial museum and the University of Pennsylvania Museum, Philadelphia, in connection with their study of Latin America.

The groups, with their teachers, Miss Virginia Neely and Miss Mary Kerns, on arriving at the commercial museum were welcomed by Herbert McCollom, assistant curator. After a time spent in examining the Latin American exhibits, the group convened to the auditorium. There, assisted by Charles R. Toothacker, curator, Mr. McCollom gave an illustrated talk and motion pictures to enrich and aid the study of Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tremittiere, Trenton, N. J., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Otter street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Eagan, of Philadelphia, were Thanksgiving guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Eagan, Second avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Paukunas, Jr., and daughters, Pauline, Miss Elaine Cooney and Anthony Torterelli, of Farrell; Anthony Paukunas, Sr., of Washington, Pa., and Cadet Alfred Paukunas, West Point, N. Y., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lewis, Beaver street.

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mershon, Otter street; visited Mrs. Mershon's brother, William Bradford, Fallsington, who is under ob-clothing and products from Mexico. Each class was given a packet of materials as a souvenir of their visit to the museum.

Following the lunch period, the Trevose classes had an opportunity to visit the Latin American gallery of the University museum.

The sixth grade at Cornwells recently circulated the second issue of the elementary school paper, "School Community News." In relation to this project, Miss Isabelle McCoy, sixth grade teacher, and her class had the privilege of visiting a Philadelphia newspaper building to see the printing operations involved in getting news to the public.

The group was greeted by a Mr. McConnell who guided the tour throughout the plant. The children were impressed with the electric eye apparatus for detecting errors in printing. During their visit to what is said to be the largest printing room in the world, they learned that five miles of newspaper is printed per minute and that 10,000 pounds of ink are used daily.

Cafeteria facilities were made available to convenience the class during the lunch period. Parents who accompanied the group were: Mrs. Hans Lutkefeder, Mrs. Raymond Engel, Mrs. Glenn Colbigh, and Mrs. Wilfred Poulette.

Mrs. Arlene Way's class, combination of grades three and four at Cornwells Heights, presented a play for the elementary assembly, called "Mother Nature's Family Goes to Bed," recently. Pupils who participated in the production were: Mother Nature, Jane Crump; Jack Frost, Joan Angus; Four Winds, Ethel Carter, Lynne Githens; "Jimmy" Bencardino, Anthony Day; Mr. and Mrs. Robin, Barbara Brighter and David Carlin; Woodchuck, Curtis Conn; Muskrat, Gail Fleming; Chipmunk, Barbara Granback; Whitefoot, Leona Forrest; Molly Cottontail, Virginia Bender; Autumn Leaves, Barbara Fields; Clara Davidczyk, Leona Forrest; Jacqueline Blyth, Patricia Brophy, Robert Filer, "Billy" Doerr, Bobby Alkena, Diane Druman; Snowflakes, Gail Fleming, Thelma Conley, Patricia Brophy, Jacqueline Blyth, Clara Davidczyk, Harold Crouch, Billy Glassy, David Brown, John Cox, "Joe" Dawicki, Diane Druman, "Brown," "Larry" Copley; stage, "Tommy" Thompson, Raymond Faunce, Frank Wysocki, Stanley Chateraski; scenery, "Tommy" Thompson, Joan Angus, Raymond Faunce; costumes, Barbara Fields. The dances were staged by Gail Fleming and Barbara Fields.

The monthly meeting of the Mothers Auxiliary, Girl Scout Troop No. 7, was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Vivien Beers. Plans for the Christmas party to be given the troop were discussed. No meeting is scheduled for December due to the holiday season.

HULMEVILLE

John Conyers, of Edgely, was the guest soloist at the service in Neasham Methodist Church, last evening, he favoring with two selections. Report made by the guest preacher, the Rev. Earl K. Bradley, of Pittsburgh, was that up to early last evening there were 44 accessions listed for the local church in the Methodist Evangelistic Advance.

The class learned that the Rescue Squad helps in all types of emergencies such as automobile accidents, suffocations, train wrecks, fires, and sicknesses of all kinds. The organization is on call 24 hours a day.

When the group returned to their classroom to evaluate the field trip, they decided to save a dollar and send it to the Rescue Squad to assist in the worthy activities of this organization.

BROTHERS IN THE

CHAMPIONSHIP OF LEAGUE TO BE AT STAKE TOMORROW

The championship of the Northeast Football Conference will be at stake tomorrow afternoon as the St. Ann's A. A. gridiron stack up against Ditzman A. A. of Philadelphia, on the Pennel Memorial field, Pennel. Opening kickoff takes place at two o'clock.

The Pennel field, inaugurated during the past baseball season, is located on Bellevue Avenue, a short distance from Hulmeville Park. The field was chosen by the managers of the respective teams as a neutral field because there is not a enclosed field here.

The "Saints," regular season champions, entered the finals by winning over Tacony Boys Club, 25-12, last Sunday, while Ditzman got into the finals with a 6-0 win over Chestnut Hill. Ditzman finished second during the regular season with seven wins and two defeats. St. Ann's won eight and lost two.

On October 30, the two contesting teams clashed on Memorial field, here, and St. Ann's barely nosed out a 20-18 triumph. Two points after the touchdowns by Tom Proffy gave the Bristol team the victory. In this tilt, Ditzman outscored the Bristol team in first downs, 13 to 6.

The Green and White team displayed one of the best passing attacks of any team to visit Memorial field, especially in the final quarter when they completed pass after pass to score a pair of touchdowns and in the last thirty seconds of the game completed two aerials to put the ball on the St. Ann's 11-yard line when the tilt came to a close.

Leaders of the Ditzman passing attack are "Bill" Young who does the throwing and "Jim" O'Keefe who is on the receiving end of the aerials. O'Keefe's No. 88 jersey was seen to be continually leaping into the air to snatch the passes in the first game and he also made his presence felt in the tilt against Chestnut Hill last week. Helping O'Keefe to catch passes when he is a decoy, is "Bill" Williams, flashy halfback for the Ditzman team.

But the St. Ann's coaches, "Pete" Bornice, Joe Roe, and Salvatore Seneca feel confident that the Bristolians will stop the passing attack of the visitors. All during the practice sessions this week, the St. Ann's coaches drilled the team on pass defense. They believe they now have the set-up which will stall the Ditzman team in the air although they will not reveal it until game time.

Head coach Bornice was elated after the showing of the Purple and Gold against the Tacony team. There is no doubt that the locals could have scored at least two more touchdowns against their opponents.

The resident team came out of the Tacony fray without any serious injuries and now is intact for the Ditzman contest. Last week, the eleven was at its best. Blocking was exhibited better than in any other game of the season and if the continuities against Ditzman, then the Philadelphia team can expect plenty of trouble.

"Bill" Foltz and Wayne "Inky" Schneider, both of West Chester State Teachers College, played defensive ball for the Wood Streeters last week with Schneider also giving Marvin Collins a lift in the kicking. Foltz's work in the line was outstanding as he paved the way with the aid of the other linemen in breaking up Tacony's offensive time and again.

Coach Bornice may start "Howie" Keys and Stan Lelinski at the wing positions although Jasper Mangiaracina, "Tim" Coyne, and "Moonie" Iannucci and "Luke" Wade with "Al" Sozio, Berne Kovacs, "Bill" Geist, and "Bill" Keys ready for action. The guards at the start of the game will most likely be "Buck" Proffy and "Buster" Monachello, with Bob Calone, Fred Costantino, and Foltz doing alternate work. The job of centering will be divided among Nick Lomma, "Mickey" Iannucci, and Elwood Mount.

Joe Elmer will call the plays from the quarter-back position. Elmer made the difference in the two games played with Tacony as was evident Sunday. His run of 26 yards for a TD was one of the best sprints of the season. Halfbacks will be John Antoni and Leo Fiorelli with "Bill" Marion handling the fullback position. The trio of St. Ann's coaches have a wealth of back substitutions in "Ed" Henratty, John Fiorelli, Wayne Schneider, Joe Napoli, Joe Myernich, Marvin Collins, Moe Caucci, "Bill" Gillies, and Joe Singer.

Ditzman's lineup will be composed of the following players: Ends: O'Keefe, Brennan, Speier, McNabb; tackles, Brush, Fischer, Nuliett, McNally, McCurley; guards, Biderman, Fredericks, Brann, Crisbo; centers, DeMuro, Pancho, Wiggs, Snyder; backs, Young, Lynn, Dougherty, Gilligan, Williams, Salus, Regalski, Vandos, Griffin, Harse.
